Book Tackles How Society Changes After UFO Cover-Up Ends

LOS ANGELES, CA. -- (October 21, 2010) -- What if UFO secrecy ends tomorrow? That's the premise behind A.D. After Disclosure: The People's Guide to Life After Contact now being released by Keyhole Publishing. This work of speculative non-fiction confronts all the disturbing challenges facing government, science, religion, media, culture, law, education, and politics once the denials end. How do we cope with the reality that we are not alone?

A.D. After Disclosure combines meticulous fact-finding from historian/researcher Richard M. Dolan and journalist/screenwriter Bryce Zabel to confront seven decades of secrecy on the world's most revolutionary subject. The authors predict a radically changed worldview after official acknowledgement that at least some UFOs are intelligently controlled physical craft from somewhere besides Earth.

"Modern technology has moved Disclosure from impossible to inevitable," says Dolan. "Secrecy has been the Immovable Object, but Truth is the Irresistible Force." Zabel agrees the times are changing: "The issue that got hushed up by one generation and turned into an object of derision by another now demands to be heard straight up in ours."

In hundreds of specific ways, A.D. After Disclosure argues that answering the simple yes-or-no question about the existence of strange visitors will begin the ultimate "what if?" scenario where the clock is re-set and history begins again.

Richard M. Dolan is the author of the ground-breaking historical series, UFOs and the National Security State, in addition to being a popular conference speaker and an acknowledged UFO expert on multiple TV investigations. Bryce Zabel created five primetime network series including the UFO drama Dark Skies, won the 2008 Writers Guild screenwriting award, served as chairman of the TV Academy and reported news for CNN.

Keyhole Publishing releases A.D. After Disclosure in hardcover October 25. The book retails at $24.95. Assorted eBook editions will be available in November. Zentro Media will release an enhanced iBook edition — with video, photos, and interviews — in early 2011. Stellar Productions holds the film and television rights to this material.
